

PROJECT STYLE

©Marzia Brugnoli of StylingOn

From work to class and from errands to parties, who has the time to create the perfect outfit? We try to dress our best, but inevitably something seems missing—a much-needed pop of color or that perfect statement necklace. StylingOn is the solution!

Since its inception, StylingOn, a personal styling service, has aimed to help the busy professional, bringing luxurious touches to both men and women's wardrobes. Their online personal styling service allows them to do just that. StylingOn members can seek outfit advice from their personal stylists, receive personalized lookbooks, and order products recommended for them online, all delivered in StylingOn's signature Style Box. Although based in New York City, StylingOn offers online services to all the cities in the United States as well through their online service.

Besides personal shopping conducted by stylists with over 10 years of experience—in which complete outfits are created and can either be tried on in-store or at-home post-delivery—StylingOn also offers special event styling. Whether you have an important company event, a photo shoot, or a hot party to attend, StylingOn's stylists can make you look like a star. For just $125 an hour, you can have a one-on-one styling session that will secure your place on the best-dressed list!

Speaking of events, StylingOn is also the perfect service for the holiday season! Holidays are stressful enough with last-minute gift shopping and planning for that big family gathering. This season, treat yourself to a personal stylist to plan the perfect holiday look at only $99 per session.

StylingOn also offers a way to eliminate those mornings where you just don't know what to wear. Forget about standing in front of your closet, staring blankly at all of your clothes after having spilled your dresser's contents all over the bedroom floor. StylingOn can pick through your clothes, find hidden gems, and retire old pieces with their Closet Audit styling feature. And with your stylist's knowledge of your wardrobe, he or she can determine what new clothes you really need. You'll be able to put an outfit together with ease!

One of the coolest services StylingOn offers is a local shopping tour, and since StylingOn is now located in one of the fashion capitals of the world, you'll get expert input on where to go shopping! For $50 per person or $275 for a group of up to 8 people, you will get to explore the streets of New York City and be introduced to some of the best boutiques in the area! While you are browsing through potential clothing purchases, your stylist will be there with you, dispensing style advice and suggesting items that will work for you and your body. How could it get better?

For access to all these amazing services, visit StylingOn.com today to submit a stylist request online, and as a bonus, enjoy 50% off your first service using the code clicheSTYLE. BY EMILY SURPLESS